

The Saturday Evening Post

A Family Journal--Devoted to Foreign and Domestic News, Politics, Literature, Agriculture, Education, Morality, Science and Art, Amusement, Advertising, &c. &c.

At $2.00 per annum, in advance,
Or $2.50, if not paid within the year.

BORBERT G. HARRIS, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

Advertisements $1.00 per square for 3 weeks 75 cents per square for each consecutive.

"RESIST WITH CARE THE SPIRIT OF INNOVATION UPON THE PRINCIPLES OF YOUR GOVERNMENT, HOWEVER SPECIOUS THE PRETEXT."—Washington.

VOL. LIV.

Choice Poetry.

THE HEART FLOWER.

Blooming near earth's thorny highways
Oft we find the blushing roses,
Nodding head beside its boughs,
Violet their leaves unblown,
By bramble and by prickly briar,
We often find a choice flower,
That may be found aspiring higher,
With some princess' fair bower,
Shining in the pure heaven,
Are the small and lesser stars,
There the beautiful 'twinklers' seven,
Here see me and the blushing stars,
Yet the loveliest to our thinking,
Are those most and timid ones,
Take white virgins gently shrinking
From night's red and fiery suns,
So along life's rugged highways,
Man's eye and heart debt find,
Near the main road and its boughs,
Flowers to bless his longing heart,
Heavens of every hue and shade,
Send like blossoms blue like blossoms,
Born toadden see and sadness,
With golden joys and sweet perfume.

FLOWERS.

Oh! they look upward in every place,
Through this beautiful world of ours,
And down as on an old friend's face,
Is the smile of the bright, fair flower,
They tell us of sadness by words and streams,
They tell of joys and tears,
But the children of flowers and sunny beams
Have lesser joys than those.

The bright, bright flowers.

They tell of a season when men were not,
When earth was but a waste of sand,
And leaves and flowers in every spot
Burst forth in the cell of creation,
When spirits, singing their hymns at even,
Wandered by wood and shade,
And the benighted down from the highest heaven,
And blessed what he had made.

The bright, bright flowers.

That blessing remained upon them still,
Though often the stormy and lowering,
And frequent tempests in cold and chill
The gayest of flowers, too flowers,
When she and death with their sister grief,
Made a home in the hearts of men,
The blessing of God on each tender leaf
Preserved in their beauty then.

The bright, bright flowers.

The life is brief as when it slept,
On the stars of Elys' face,

The wondrous breaths sweetly as when it crept,

In Eden, from brake to brake,

They were left as a prey of the loneliness

Of Adam and Eve's first home;

They are here the type of the joys that these

The joys in the world to come;

The bright, bright flowers.

AN AFFECTING COURT INCIDENT.

From a Correspondent of Arthur's Home Gazette.

LEAD US NOT INTO TEMPTATION.

We take pleasure in relating an incident which greatly enlisted our sympathies, held us spell-bound by its interest, and finally made our hearts leap with joy at its happy termination.

In the spring of 1858 we chanced to be spending a few days in a beautiful inland country town in Pennsylvania. It was court week, and to relieve us from the somewhat monotonous incidents of village life we stepped into the room where the court had convened.

Among the prisoners in the box we saw a lad but ten years of age, whose sad, penitent countenance, his young and innocent appearance, caused him to look sadly out of place among the hardened criminals by whom he was surrounded. Close by the box, and manifesting the greatest interest in the proceedings, sat a taurine woman, whose anxious glance from the Judge to the boy left us no room to doubt that it was his mother.

We turned with sadness from the scene to inquire of the offence of the prisoner, and learned he was accused of stealing money.

The case was soon commenced, and, by the interest manifested by that large crowd, we found that our heart was not the only one in which sympathy for the lad existed. How we pitied him! The bright smile had vanished from his face, and now it expressed the cares of the aged. His young sister, a bright-eyed girl, had gained admission to his side, and cheered him with the whispering of hope.

But that sweet voice, which before caused his heart to bound with happiness, added only to the grief his shame had brought upon him.

The progress of the case acquainted us with the circumstances of the loss—the extent of which was but a dime, no more.

The lad's employer, a wealthy, masterly, and unprincipled manufacturer, had made use of it for the purpose of what he called "testing the boy's honesty." It was placed where, from its very position, the lad would often see it, and least suspect the trap.

The day passed, and the master, to his mortification, not pleasure, found the boy resisted his heart to bound with happiness, added only to the grief his shame had brought upon him.

The progress of the case acquainted us with the circumstances of the loss—the extent of which was but a dime, no more.

The lad's employer, a wealthy, masterly, and unprincipled manufacturer, had made use of it for the purpose of what he called "testing the boy's honesty." It was placed where, from its very position, the lad would often see it, and least suspect the trap.

A Good Inspiration.—At a social party one evening the question was put, "What is religion?" "Religion," replied one of the party, "is an insurance against fire in the next world, for which honesty is the best policy."

Not to be Outshone.—There are stories, like sponges, just the too deep for being dried, and a woman's age is one of them.

In some previous Number, Stanley, I'll be bound, But that's a point I will not narrate.

The devil is always busy with those who are most idle. If they don't work he will.

Open your heart to sympathy, but close it to dependence. The heart which opens to receive the one, shuts against man.

From Godoy's Lady's Book.
How Peter Mulroney gave the Black
Filly a Mash.

By STEPHEN LEAVENTHROP.

king the "little rogue" an example to others by punishment. Before, I could see many tears of sympathy for the lad, his widowed mother and faithful sister. But their eyes were all dry now, and none looked as if they cared for aught else but conviction.

The accuser sat in a conspicuous place, smiling as if in fiend-like exultation over misery he had brought upon that poor but once happy trio.

We felt that there was but little hope for the boy, and the youthful appearance of the attorney who had volunteered in his defense gave no encouragement, as we learned that it was the young man's maiden plea—his first address. He appeared greatly confused and reached to a desk near him, from which he took the Bible that had been used to solemnize the testimony. This movement was received with general laughter and taunting remarks among which we heard a harsh fellow, close to us, exclaim:

"He forgets what it is. Thinking to get hold of some ponderous law-book, he has made a mistake and got the Bible."

The remark made the young attorney blush with anger, and turning his flitting eyes upon the audience he convinced them that there was no mistake, saying, "Justice wants no better tool." His confusion was gone, and instantly he was as calm as the sober Judge on the bench. The Bible was opened, and every eye was upon him, as he quietly and leisurely turned over the leaves. Amidst breathless silence he read the jury this sentence: "Lead us not into temptation."

We felt our heart throb at the sound of these words. The audience looked at each other without speaking; and the juryman exchanged glances as the appropriate quotation earned its moral to their hearts. Then followed an address which for pathetic eloquence we have never heard excelled. Its influence was like magic. We saw the gallant青年 have the room in fear of personal violence. The prisoner looked hopeful; the mother smiled again; and, before its conclusion, there was an eye in the corner-room that was moist. The speech, affecting to that degree which caused tears, held its hearers spell bound.

The little time that was necessary to transpire before the verdict of the jury could be learned was a period of great anxiety and suspense. But when their whispering consultation ceased, and those happy words, "Not guilty," came from the foreman, they passed like a thrill of electricity from lip to lip, the austere dignity of the court was forgotten, and not a voice was there that did not join in the exclamation that hushed the lad's release. The young lawyer's first plea was a successful one. He was soon a favorite, and now represents his district in the councils of the commonwealth.

The lad has never ceased his grateful remembrances, and we, by the affecting scene herein attempted to be described, have often been led to think how manifold greater is the crime of the tempter than of the tempted.

Look at the young man with no steady employment of any kind. See the bad habits that are by degrees growing upon him. Watch his progress in dissipation, and his end in crime. And should he have courage and strength sufficient left, after years of indulgence, to break away from the degenerating habit, how much will he long to live over the wasted hours and years—so that he might better improve them.

The idea that labor—manual labor—is degrading, is not only foolish, but wicked! Too proud to work! Strange pride; better to do anything than nothing! Labor is the basis of wealth, of science, of art, of every thing which gives comfort to the physical, and dignity to the spiritual life of man. Too proud to work!

Consumption.—Dr. Wood, of Philadelphia, argues the protective and nutritive value of cod liver oil from the fact that the ordinary tables give much diminished number of deaths from consumption since it came into general use. "Prudently," says he, "we have cured 18 in 8 cases of consumption by its use."

Rev. John Newton was very considerate and tender-hearted. Once he said: "I see in this world two heaps—one of human happiness and the other of human misery. Now if I can take the smallest bit from one heap, or add to the other, I carry a point. If I go home, a child drops a half-penny, and it is going to it another I can wipe away its tears. I can do much to do greater things; I should be glad indeed to do greater things; but I will not neglect this."

Tenderness.—"I want a goose for Christmas, Mollie; how do you sell them to-day?" inquired a rustic of an old woman in the market. "We'll have the two for seven shillings." "That will be three and six for one of them?" "No, no, man, take the two or none; they're born together these fifteen years, and I aren't so unfeeling as to separate them in their old age."

A Good Inspiration.—At a social party one evening the question was put, "What is religion?" "Religion," replied one of the party, "is an insurance against fire in the next world, for which honesty is the best policy."

Not to be Outshone.—There are stories, like sponges, just the too deep for being dried, and a woman's age is one of them.

In some previous Number, Stanley, I'll be bound, But that's a point I will not narrate.

The devil is always busy with those who are most idle. If they don't work he will.

Open your heart to sympathy, but close it to dependence. The heart which opens to receive the one, shuts against man.

How I longed to understand me, after all; so I said to him—

"A warm bran mash for the black filly."

You will not forget it, I hope, Mulroney?

"Och, 'tis an illigent minny I have," said he, "an' never a word drops from yer hon' s' lips, but I'll be bound to hold it as fast as the lobster did Neal Metivier."

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

"I don't know of any distinction between them," I answered, rather puzzled in my mind as what he was aiming. I found afterwards he was ignorant of what a mosh is.

Still Peter unaccountably lingered, and I was about to ask why he waited, when he said softly:

"I beg your pardon, sir; but 'tis bothered intilately I am. Will I give her an cold country mosh or an American mosh?"

THE ADAMS SENTINEL AND GENERAL ADVERTISER.

FOREIGN NEWS.

One Week Later from Europe.

HALIFAX, June 21.—The steamer Canada, from Liverpool, with dates to the 10th inst., arrived here this morning.

THE WAR.

Intense anxiety prevails with regard to Silistria. The Russians had 70,000 men on the spot, and the assaults are continued both day and night. They had effected a practicable breach in the wall, but a sudden rise in the Danube prevented the storming that had been determined on.

The advice to the 25th reported that that the fortress might hold out for fifteen days. The Commandant, Mezra, Pasha, threatens to blow up the fortress rather than surrender it.

On the night of the 20th the Russians made three attempts to storm the fortress, but were repulsed with fearful loss, leaving 1,000 dead beneath the ramparts.

The Turkish garrison had also made a sortie and committed dreadful havoc among the Russians, killing and wounding 4,500.

The allied headquarters were established at Varna.

On the 8th of May, the Turks defeated 2,000 Russians at Stalina, killing 500 and capturing their guns.

Other encounters, more or less sanguinary, are reported.

All the Russian troops at Bucharest are ordered to advance to the Danube.

The Russian force in Lesser Wallachia is still fighting back.

The intelligence from the Danube states that all was quiet there. The allied fleet was cruising about, but had met with no enemy.

Nothing further had been effected by the fleet in the Baltic. Admiral Napier's fleet was at Helgoland, and Admiral Corry's fleet, including the French squadron, would cruise on the southern coast until the arrival of more vessels at Cossack, when both fleets would unite and anchor across the Gulf.

A French squadron of 22 ships passed Bungen on the 4th, steering northeast.

A force of steam gun boats are being hastily fitted out in England.

Five English ships of war are on their way to blockade the White Sea.

The Foreign News.—The Canada brings a week's later news from Europe. All the interest appears to be absorbed in the question will Silistria be able to hold out till the French and English troops arrive to the rescue of the Turks. They are not expected before the 14th of June. The indications are that it will not. The Russians are assembled 70,000 strong, and are most actively engaged in the endeavor to reduce this fortress, so important to the Russian operations and their holding the entire command of the Danube. They are bombarding it night and day, and have already effected a breach. The Turks defend it with great courage and have inflicted severe loss upon the enemy, but the latter, with the indomitable and dogged spirit which distinguishes the Russian soldiery, are unceasingly to the work again. We have to doubt that in the result the Turkish loss fully equals the Russian, though the latter is paraded in the newspapers and the former not mentioned. The advance of the Russians in the face of the threatenings from the allied armies, is creating some uneasiness in moneyed circles in England and France. They begin to fear that Nicholas is really in earnest, and means to gain his object at all hazards.

In the Black Sea nothing is doing, and the same inactivity prevails in the Baltic. Napier is in no hurry to rival Nelson's exploits at Copenhagen, and try the virtue of Nicholas's impregnable walls. Masterly inactivity is the policy, though the sailors have their cutlasses sharpened. Some fresh suspicions seem also to be entertained of the movements of Prussia and Austria, and the other German states. After the principal European nations appear to be getting into a very uncomfortable state with a prospect of having a long and sanguinary contest before them.

A Hanging Case in Kentucky.

In December last, Charles Cushing was murdered in Lexington, by William Wright, the offence that provoked the fatal shot being a slight insult to the assassin's wife. On the 13th inst., the prisoner, who had been in prison from that time, was brought out for trial, and was convicted of murder in the first degree. Cushing kept a confederacy, which the wife of the prisoner entered in the dusk of the evening, in presence of several witnesses, for a purchase—Cushing mistook her for another person, and placed his hand on her shoulder, saying, "How are you, pretty?" In an instant he discovered his mistake and apologized, but the lady left in a rage, and soon after her husband and she returned to the shop, when the unfortunate young man was shot down in his tracks!

When the jury had returned, after only twenty minutes absence, and had announced their fatal decree, a most distressing scene was witnessed by the crowd. The prisoner, entirely overcome, let his head fall upon his breast, while his wife, his sister, and his mother, gave vent to their anguish in heartrending sobs. His wife threw herself upon his neck, and exclaimed passionately, "Oh, why did I do this! why did I do this!" and, "Oh, how could those men find him guilty, when they have families! Oh, I will die!" The screams gradually subsided into sobs of grief and anguish, while the mournful, harrowing scene affixed judge, jury, bar and spectators.

A Son Mourning Aoy with his Father's Wife.

On Sunday morning, at Richmond, Va., a slave engaged at the gas works in that city, deliberately went to work to blow up the whole building by lighting the gas inside from one of the pipes, which he opened. A tremendous explosion took place, which dashed him against one of the walls of the building, killing him instantly, and then told them if they persisted in asking him, he should be compelled to end his life in the County House. Upon this they left.

Explosion and Terrible Retribution.

On Saturday morning, at Richmond, Va., a slave engaged at the gas works in that city, deliberately went to work to blow up the whole building by lighting the gas inside from one of the pipes, which he opened. A tremendous explosion took place, which dashed him against one of the walls of the building, killing him instantly, and then told them if they persisted in asking him, he should be compelled to end his life in the County House. Upon this they left.

Nothing further was heard from them till several days after, when an old man arrived from Canada in pursuit of them, stating that the master was his own wife, and the man his son by a former one.—N. Y. paper.

The Borough of Harrington, by an resolution just taken, contains 11,217 square miles, an area of 64,273 over the whole, a population of 4,200, and 800 parishes. A number of 103,000 people are now here, and the popularity is increasing.

The Borough of Harrington, by an order in Council, has been created.

The Borough of Harrington, by an order in Council, has been created.

From Texas.

Our dates are to the 3d instant from San Antonio and Austin, and corresponding dates from other points.

On Friday night, the 26th, a violent storm or tornado swept over San Antonio. A large number of windows were blown in and much alarm occasioned. The corn for a considerable extent of country around was levelled to the earth, and damage to the amount of several thousand dollars was done. Two esteemed citizens, Simeon C. Rogers, of the firm of G. F. Rogers & Bro., and M. S. Bagdad, a son of Judge Bagdad, were struck by lightning during the storm. Two riders and their animals were found lying together, struck down by a bolt so terrible that death ensued without a struggle. One of the unfortunate victims still grasped in his hands the reins and his whip, and his feet were still in the stirrups.

The advice to the 25th reported that that the fortress might hold out for fifteen days. The Commandant, Mezra, Pasha, threatens to blow up the fortress rather than surrender it.

On the night of the 20th the Russians made three attempts to storm the fortress, but were repulsed with fearful loss, leaving 1,000 dead beneath the ramparts.

The Turkish garrison had also made a sortie and committed dreadful havoc among the Russians, killing and wounding 4,500.

The allied headquarters were established at Varna.

On the 8th of May, the Turks defeated 2,000 Russians at Stalina, killing 500 and capturing their guns.

Other encounters, more or less sanguinary, are reported.

All the Russian troops at Bucharest are ordered to advance to the Danube.

The Russian force in Lesser Wallachia is still fighting back.

The intelligence from the Danube states that all was quiet there. The allied fleet was cruising about, but had met with no enemy.

Nothing further had been effected by the fleet in the Baltic. Admiral Napier's fleet was at Helgoland, and Admiral Corry's fleet, including the French squadron, would cruise on the southern coast until the arrival of more vessels at Cossack, when both fleets would unite and anchor across the Gulf.

A French squadron of 22 ships passed Bungen on the 4th, steering northeast.

A force of steam gun boats are being hastily fitted out in England.

Five English ships of war are on their way to blockade the White Sea.

The Foreign News.—The Canada brings a week's later news from Europe. All the interest appears to be absorbed in the question will Silistria be able to hold out till the French and English troops arrive to the rescue of the Turks. They are not expected before the 14th of June. The indications are that it will not. The Russians are assembled 70,000 strong, and are most actively engaged in the endeavor to reduce this fortress, so important to the Russian operations and their holding the entire command of the Danube. They are bombarding it night and day, and have already effected a breach. The Turks defend it with great courage and have inflicted severe loss upon the enemy, but the latter, with the indomitable and dogged spirit which distinguishes the Russian soldiery, are unceasingly to the work again. We have to doubt that in the result the Turkish loss fully equals the Russian, though the latter is paraded in the newspapers and the former not mentioned. The advance of the Russians in the face of the threatenings from the allied armies, is creating some uneasiness in moneyed circles in England and France. They begin to fear that Nicholas is really in earnest, and means to gain his object at all hazards.

In the Black Sea nothing is doing, and the same inactivity prevails in the Baltic. Napier is in no hurry to rival Nelson's exploits at Copenhagen, and try the virtue of Nicholas's impregnable walls. Masterly inactivity is the policy, though the sailors have their cutlasses sharpened. Some fresh suspicions seem also to be entertained of the movements of Prussia and Austria, and the other German states. After the principal European nations appear to be getting into a very uncomfortable state with a prospect of having a long and sanguinary contest before them.

A Hanging Case in Kentucky.

In December last, Charles Cushing was murdered in Lexington, by William Wright, the offence that provoked the fatal shot being a slight insult to the assassin's wife. On the 13th inst., the prisoner, who had been in prison from that time, was brought out for trial, and was convicted of murder in the first degree. Cushing kept a confederacy, which the wife of the prisoner entered in the dusk of the evening, in presence of several witnesses, for a purchase—Cushing mistook her for another person, and placed his hand on her shoulder, saying, "How are you, pretty?" In an instant he discovered his mistake and apologized, but the lady left in a rage, and soon after her husband and she returned to the shop, when the unfortunate young man was shot down in his tracks!

When the jury had returned, after only twenty minutes absence, and had announced their fatal decree, a most distressing scene was witnessed by the crowd. The prisoner, entirely overcome, let his head fall upon his breast, while his wife, his sister, and his mother, gave vent to their anguish in heartrending sobs. His wife threw herself upon his neck, and exclaimed passionately, "Oh, why did I do this! why did I do this!" and, "Oh, how could those men find him guilty, when they have families! Oh, I will die!" The screams gradually subsided into sobs of grief and anguish, while the mournful, harrowing scene affixed judge, jury, bar and spectators.

An Interesting Incident.—A correspondent of the Greenfield Republic relates the following interesting instance of maternal affection in animals:

"A few days since, Mr. José Rice, of Conway, discovered on a tree what he supposed to be a crow's nest. But on examination he found, instead of a bird's nest, a woman entered a store on Pratt street, as was supposed for the purpose of purchasing some article kept, and she was politely waited on by the wife of the proprietor, who inquired what she would look at. There was something in the store she wanted, but it was not to be found on the shelves, and she laid claim to the proprietor as being her lawful husband, who several years ago deserted her. She was of genial appearance, and appeared to act as one affected with mental aberration. The proprietor remonstrated that he was not the lost one she supposed him to be, but his remonstrance was of no effect, for she rushed toward him and attempted to embrace him. To this manifestation of affection he despaired, as did also his wife, who did not wish to share but to monopolize his whole love. A general pulling of hair and tearing of ribbons followed, but the new claimant held on faithfully, until the noise created, attracted several persons, who came to the assistance of the persecuted merchant, and she was released from her close embrace. An effort was then made to find a police officer that the interloper might be arrested, but she left before he arrived, and could not again be found. There is very little doubt that the woman was insane, which accounts for her affectionate freak." Baltimore American.

An Interesting Incident.—A correspondent of the Greenfield Republic relates the following interesting instance of maternal affection in animals:

"A few days since, Mr. José Rice, of Conway, discovered on a tree what he supposed to be a crow's nest. But on examination he found, instead of a bird's nest, a woman entered a store on Pratt street, as was supposed for the purpose of purchasing some article kept, and she was politely waited on by the wife of the proprietor, who inquired what she would look at. There was something in the store she wanted, but it was not to be found on the shelves, and she laid claim to the proprietor as being her lawful husband, who several years ago deserted her. She was of genial appearance, and appeared to act as one affected with mental aberration. The proprietor remonstrated that he was not the lost one she supposed him to be, but his remonstrance was of no effect, for she rushed toward him and attempted to embrace him. To this manifestation of affection he despaired, as did also his wife, who did not wish to share but to monopolize his whole love. A general pulling of hair and tearing of ribbons followed, but the new claimant held on faithfully, until the noise created, attracted several persons, who came to the assistance of the persecuted merchant, and she was released from her close embrace. An effort was then made to find a police officer that the interloper might be arrested, but she left before he arrived, and could not again be found. There is very little doubt that the woman was insane, which accounts for her affectionate freak." Baltimore American.

An Interesting Incident.—A correspondent of the Greenfield Republic relates the following interesting instance of maternal affection in animals:

"A few days since, Mr. José Rice, of Conway, discovered on a tree what he supposed to be a crow's nest. But on examination he found, instead of a bird's nest, a woman entered a store on Pratt street, as was supposed for the purpose of purchasing some article kept, and she was politely waited on by the wife of the proprietor, who inquired what she would look at. There was something in the store she wanted, but it was not to be found on the shelves, and she laid claim to the proprietor as being her lawful husband, who several years ago deserted her. She was of genial appearance, and appeared to act as one affected with mental aberration. The proprietor remonstrated that he was not the lost one she supposed him to be, but his remonstrance was of no effect, for she rushed toward him and attempted to embrace him. To this manifestation of affection he despaired, as did also his wife, who did not wish to share but to monopolize his whole love. A general pulling of hair and tearing of ribbons followed, but the new claimant held on faithfully, until the noise created, attracted several persons, who came to the assistance of the persecuted merchant, and she was released from her close embrace. An effort was then made to find a police officer that the interloper might be arrested, but she left before he arrived, and could not again be found. There is very little doubt that the woman was insane, which accounts for her affectionate freak." Baltimore American.

An Interesting Incident.—A correspondent of the Greenfield Republic relates the following interesting instance of maternal affection in animals:

"A few days since, Mr. José Rice, of Conway, discovered on a tree what he supposed to be a crow's nest. But on examination he found, instead of a bird's nest, a woman entered a store on Pratt street, as was supposed for the purpose of purchasing some article kept, and she was politely waited on by the wife of the proprietor, who inquired what she would look at. There was something in the store she wanted, but it was not to be found on the shelves, and she laid claim to the proprietor as being her lawful husband, who several years ago deserted her. She was of genial appearance, and appeared to act as one affected with mental aberration. The proprietor remonstrated that he was not the lost one she supposed him to be, but his remonstrance was of no effect, for she rushed toward him and attempted to embrace him. To this manifestation of affection he despaired, as did also his wife, who did not wish to share but to monopolize his whole love. A general pulling of hair and tearing of ribbons followed, but the new claimant held on faithfully, until the noise created, attracted several persons, who came to the assistance of the persecuted merchant, and she was released from her close embrace. An effort was then made to find a police officer that the interloper might be arrested, but she left before he arrived, and could not again be found. There is very little doubt that the woman was insane, which accounts for her affectionate freak." Baltimore American.

An Interesting Incident.—A correspondent of the Greenfield Republic relates the following interesting instance of maternal affection in animals:

"A few days since, Mr. José Rice, of Conway, discovered on a tree what he supposed to be a crow's nest. But on examination he found, instead of a bird's nest, a woman entered a store on Pratt street, as was supposed for the purpose of purchasing some article kept, and she was politely waited on by the wife of the proprietor, who inquired what she would look at. There was something in the store she wanted, but it was not to be found on the shelves, and she laid claim to the proprietor as being her lawful husband, who several years ago deserted her. She was of genial appearance, and appeared to act as one affected with mental aberration. The proprietor remonstrated that he was not the lost one she supposed him to be, but his remonstrance was of no effect, for she rushed toward him and attempted to embrace him. To this manifestation of affection he despaired, as did also his wife, who did not wish to share but to monopolize his whole love. A general pulling of hair and tearing of ribbons followed, but the new claimant held on faithfully, until the noise created, attracted several persons, who came to the assistance of the persecuted merchant, and she was released from her close embrace. An effort was then made to find a police officer that the interloper might be arrested, but she left before he arrived, and could not again be found. There is very little doubt that the woman was insane, which accounts for her affectionate freak." Baltimore American.

An Interesting Incident.—A correspondent of the Greenfield Republic relates the following interesting instance of maternal affection in animals:

"A few days since, Mr. José Rice, of Conway, discovered on a tree what he supposed to be a crow's nest. But on examination he found, instead of a bird's nest, a woman entered a store on Pratt street, as was supposed for the purpose of purchasing some article kept, and she was politely waited on by the wife of the proprietor, who inquired what she would look at. There was something in the store she wanted, but it was not to be found on the shelves, and she laid claim to the proprietor as being her lawful husband, who several years ago deserted her. She was of genial appearance, and appeared to act as one affected with mental aberration. The proprietor remonstrated that he was not the lost one she supposed him to be, but his remonstrance was of no effect, for she rushed toward him and attempted to embrace him. To this manifestation of affection he despaired, as did also his wife, who did not wish to share but to monopolize his whole love. A general pulling of hair and tearing of ribbons followed, but the new claimant held on faithfully, until the noise created, attracted several persons, who came to the assistance of the persecuted merchant, and she was released from her close embrace. An effort was then made to find a police officer that the interloper might be arrested, but she left before he arrived, and could not again be found. There is very little doubt that the woman was insane, which accounts for her affectionate freak." Baltimore American.

An Interesting Incident.—A correspondent of the Greenfield Republic relates the following interesting instance of maternal affection in animals:

"A few days since, Mr. José Rice, of Conway, discovered on a tree what he supposed to be a crow's nest. But on examination he found, instead of a bird's nest, a woman entered a store on Pratt street, as was supposed for the purpose of purchasing some article kept, and she was politely waited on by the wife of the proprietor, who inquired what she would look at. There was something in the store she wanted, but it was not to be found on the shelves, and she laid claim to the proprietor as being her lawful husband, who several years ago deserted her. She was of genial appearance, and appeared to act as one affected with mental aberration. The proprietor remonstrated that he was not the lost one she supposed him to be, but his remonstrance was of no effect, for she rushed toward him and attempted to embrace him. To this manifestation of affection he despaired, as did also his wife, who did not wish to share but to monopolize his whole love. A general pulling of hair and tearing of ribbons followed, but the new claimant held on faithfully, until the noise created, attracted several persons, who came to the assistance of the persecuted merchant, and she was released from her close embrace. An effort was then made to find a police officer that the interloper might be arrested, but she left before he arrived, and could not again be found. There is very little doubt that the woman was insane, which accounts for her affectionate freak." Baltimore American.

An Interesting Incident.—A correspondent of the Greenfield Republic relates the following interesting instance of maternal affection in animals:

"A few days since, Mr. José Rice, of Conway, discovered on a tree what he supposed to be a crow's nest. But on examination he found, instead of a bird's nest, a woman entered a store on Pratt street, as was supposed for the purpose of purchasing some article kept, and she was politely waited on by the wife of the proprietor, who inquired what she would look at. There was something in the store she wanted, but it was not to be found on the shelves, and she laid claim to the proprietor as being her lawful husband, who several years ago deserted her. She was of genial appearance, and appeared to act as one affected with mental

THE ADAMS SENTINEL AND GENERAL ADVERTISER.

Financial.

Not long after the "break-down" of 1832 there was imported from London into New York two millions of gold, which was transported throughout the land as a circumstance calculated to relieve the then stringent state of the money market. It did help a little, but the money market, as it had the effect to restore confidence, since we are not aware that there have been imports of gold, excepting the amount which immigrants bring.

In these modern times, since the discovery of the California mines, we are the great exporters of the precious metals, at the expense of all the great interests of the country; and whilst they go to Europe at the rate of half a million and a million of dollars by each steamer, scarcely a voice is raised against it, albeit every man of business knows that the vast exports weaken our resources, cripple the trade of the country, render money dear, and occasionally cause failures.

Of course the gold is exported in large quantities to liquidate the balance of trade, and, so long as the revenue laws continue as they now are, all, or nearly all the gold that comes from California, will be shipped to Europe to square off. Circumstances as we are, California is certainly a boon to foreigners; but for our life we cannot divine any good it does us. No wonder money is cheap abroad and high in the United States under such a state of things.

If, instead of making speeches in Congress respecting the annexation, purchase, or taking clandestine Cuba, the Sandwich Islands, and various other possessions of foreign countries, our representatives would keep an eye on home, it does appear to us the country would be in a better condition—Whilst our imports exceed greatly our exports we need not look for permanent prosperity.

VIRGINIA, June 1851.

Riot and Murder.

PORTSMOUTH, Pa., June 19.—A riot occurred here on Sunday night, between some drunken men, in which Lazarus Kean was stabbed and died instantly. The drunken men, named Dougherty, McSorley and Simons, who were engaged in the affray, were wounded. Dougherty was stabbed in the side, but has since been arrested on the charge of killing Kean.

Island Distress.

PORTSMOUTH, Pa., June 19.—In addition to the murder of Kean in this city on Saturday night, a Protestant Irishman at Westwood was foused from his bed by a party who had been drinking. He came to the door and was struck with a bludgeon and killed, and his wife maltreated. On the Catawba road, above Fairmount, a difficulty occurred between an Irishman and his employer, when the former struck the latter with a stone, and would have repeated the blow had not his employer shamed him through his arm and leg. It was also reported that a woman had been found near Fremont with her throat cut—These outrages result from intemperance, and have created great excitement.

From a late letter from Paris says:—"The mania for suicide is reaching a point that is positively alarming in this city. Day before yesterday, there were no less than five cases.

A Stroke of Luck.—L. W. Gillett, a scene painter engaged at Foster's theatre in Pittsburgh last season, has, by the death of a relative in Ireland, become sole heir to an estate valued at $200,000.

Miss Paul of Wurtemburg, brother of the King of that part of Germany, and first cousin of Queen Victoria, arrived a day or two since, and is staying at the Metropolitan Hotel. The Miss is a great traveler, having visited all parts of the world. He has just taken a run through the southern States of the Union.—Telegraph.

Great Mortality.—An Austrian Journal estimates the number of deaths in the Russian army, from Typhus fever, since their entrance into the Dniester, at the enormous number of 18,000.

BOSTON, June 20.—A violent thunder storm visited the South shore last evening, accompanied by hail and rain. The Unitarian Church at Kingston was struck by lightning and considerably injured. A house in North Bridgewater was struck and one man killed.

Masks and Spades.—A Contract.—The United States army numbers about 10,000 men, who left the country last year $8,625,247 for pay, subsistence, clothing, &c. The Illinois Central Railroad army numbers 10,000 men, who receive from the company $8,700,000. In three years they will make 17,000 of solid, adding greatly to the wealth of the State and Country. In thirty years, the United States have spent $200,000,000, for which they have nothing to show but some old coats, guns, battered uniforms and dilapidated equipments.

That is the Way.—One of the Commissioners of Justice of the city of Brooklyn was excommunicated in the King's County Court on Friday evening, charging him with the malice of the Board with punishing persons to persons who have not the same in their family law. The penalty of excommunication is to be inflicted on the person at the time of his conviction.

A D. P. M.—A late and ill-advised proposal to establish a Bank of Brooklyn, was made by Mr. Deering. The plan is to establish a bank of $100,000,000, also closing its property, Mr. Deering, some of his best and most valuable friends of business and worth, and thoroughly bound the premises, against the strong opposition of the opponents.

Chief Library in Turkey.—It is a curious fact that while we are here complaining of the darkness of slavery in the United States, the seat of war in Turkey, whereof said nation is the most notorious of the country, they were sold at the 4th sing price on the 23rd of March last.

Wine per quart, one penny sterling; bread loaf 21s 3d, 3d, one penny per loaf, best beef, best cuts, one penny per lb. eggs, very dear, a hen costing a fat duck, eighteenpence; a chicken, threepence; a goose, sixpence; a 7 lb. turkey, twelvepence; a roasting pig of 15 lbs, two shillings and eight pence. Other things are in proportion.

Great Destruction of Cord Wood.—News reached Woburn on Sunday by telegraph, that an immense pile of cord wood at Charlestown, belonging to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, was on fire, and the flames had spread to the building. Mr. Ford, the superintendent, immediately placed the engine and tools of the Hope Fire Company on a truck, to which a locomotive was attached, and proceeded to the scene of the conflagration. The steamship Herman sailed from New York on Saturday week for Bremen with one hundred and twenty passengers, and was on fire, and a dozen Earthquakes.

The country between Florence and Rome was recently shaken by a series of earthquakes. The first occurred on the night of the 11th of May. The undulatory motion continued for three or four seconds. Another more intense followed about four next morning, and continued over six seconds. At half-past ten of the same morning a third shock, still more alarming, held the pine-striken population breathless for eight or ten seconds; and a fourth occurred between three and four in the afternoon, which made the firmest houses tremble, and tumbled into ruins some that were shattered by the shocks in February last. About three o'clock in the afternoon of the 22d another occurred, which was felt at Florence.

Death in Mount Vesuvius.—A letter from Paris in the Boston Atlas, says:

Young Mr. J. Delius, of Bremen, fell into the crater of Mount Vesuvius on the 11th of May and perished; his body was found. This unfortunate gentleman was the assistant professor of English literature at Berlin, who is so kindly remembered by all American students who have resided in Berlin, from his unrisen courtesy and hospitality to them. His father and several of his family are the partners of the well-known German house that has a branch establishment in Baltimore, with which city they do a large business.

A Hoister of the Dope.—A "Devil Fish" became entangled in a line off Sullivan's Island wharf, at Charleston, on Thursday, and after some trouble was captured by the owner of the line. It measured 17 feet from fin to fin, and its weight was a ton and a half. This morn, we measured two feet and a half, and taking him to oil, all in all, it is said, he was a most dangerous looking customer. This is the second of the species that has been taken in Charleston harbor during the last sixteen years.

The Jews in Palestine.—It is stated that in consequence of the great distress among the Jews in Palestine, Mr. Hochschild, just remitted, by one of his employees, a sum of fifty thousand francs, and American citizens had followed likewise to their co-religionists 300,000 francs. It is announced that meetings with a view to further their subscriptions will be held in London.

Appearance of the Leviathan from a Balloon.—Mr. Eliot, the agent, in a letter giving an account of his ascent from Baltimore, thus speaks of the appearance of the earth from a balloon:—"I don't know that I ever named Leviathan that the caraman was half as big as the fish he was swimming in; but the fish-like part of the balloon was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very reprehensible, and gave much pain to the foreign officers who had seen military exercises in other countries; but the fish-like part of the Leviathan was but a trifle less than according to their fancies. Several of the Caramans were up to the Leviathan to draw their swallows across his throat, and then took the blood from their sides. Drawing the whole of the Leviathan was quietly swimming by paper as if it had been swimming by a current of wind. The want of precision with which men fired, and the carelessness they showed in doing their work, were very

THE ADAMS SENTINEL AND GENERAL ADVERTISER.

FOREIGN NEWS.

One Week Later from Europe.

HALICAN, June 21.—The steamer Canada, from Liverpool, with dates to the 10th inst., arrived here this morning.

THE WAR.

Intense anxiety prevails with regard to Silistria. The Russians had 70,000 men on the spot, and the assaults are continued both day and night. They had effected a practicable breach in the wall, but a sudden rise in the Danube prevented the storming that had been determined on.

The advices to the 25th reported that the fortress might hold out for fifteen days. The Commandant, Mezza Pasha, threatens to blow up the fortress rather than surrender it.

On the night of the 20th the Russians made three attempts to storm the fortress, but were repulsed with fearful loss, leaving 1,500 dead beneath the ramparts.

The Turkish garrison had also made a sortie and committed dreadful havoc among the Russians, killing and wounding 4,500.

The allied head-quarters were established at Varna.

On the 31st of May, the Turks defeated 2,000 Russians at Slatina, killing 500 and capturing their guns.

Other encounters, more or less sanguinary, are reported.

All the Russian troops at Bucharest are ordered to advance to the Danube.

The Russian force in Lesser Wallachia is still falling back.

The intelligence from the Danube states that all was quiet there. The allied fleet was cruising about, but had met with no enemy.

Nothing further had been effected by the fleet in the Baltic. Admiral Napier's fleet was at Helsingfors, and Admiral Corry's fleet, including the French squadron, would cruise off the southern coast until the arrival of more vessels at Cronstadt, when both fleets would unite and anchor across the Gulf.

A French squadron of 22 ships passed Rügen on the 4th, steering northeast.

A force of steam gun boats are being hastily fitted out in England.

Five English ships of war are on their way to blockade the White Sea.

The Foreign News.—The Canada brings a week's later news from Europe. All the interest appears to be absorbed in the question will Silistria be able to hold out till the French and English troops arrive to the succor of the Turks. They are not expected before the 1st of June. The Russians are assembled 70,000 strong, and are most actively engaged in the endeavor to reduce this fortress, so important to the Russian operations and their holding the entire command of the Danube. They are bombarding it night and day, and have already effected a breach. The Turks defend it with great courage and have inflicted severe loss upon the enemy, but the latter, with the indomitable and dogged spirit which distinguishes the Russian soldier, advances unhesitatingly to the work again. We have no doubt that in the sortie the Turkish loss fully equals the Russian, though the latter is paraded in the newspapers and the former not mentioned. The advance of the Russians in the face of the threatenings from the allied armies is creating some uneasiness in moneyed circles in England and France. They begin to fear that Nicholas is really in earnest, and means to gain his object at all hazards.

In the Black Sea nothing is doing, and the same inactivity prevails in the Baltic.—Napier is in no hurry to rival Nelson's exploits at Copenhagen, and try the virtue of Nicholas's impregnable walls. Masterly inactivity is the policy, though the sailors have their cutlasses sharpened. Some fresh suspicions seem also to be entertained of the movements of Prussia and Austria and the other German states. Altogether the principal European nations appear to be getting into a very uncomfortable state with a prospect of having a long and sanguinary contest before them.

A Hanging Case in Kentucky.

In December last, Charles Cushing was murdered in Lexington, by William Wright, the offence that provoked the fatal shot being a slight insult to the assailant's wife.

On the 15th inst., the prisoner, who had lain in prison from that time, was brought out for trial, and was convicted of murder in the first degree. Cushing kept a confederacy, which the wife of the prisoner entered in the dusk of the evening, in presence of several witnesses, for a purchase.

Cushing mistook her for another person, and placed his hand on her shoulder, saying "How are you, pretty?" In an instant he discovered his mistake and apologized, but the lady left in a rage, and soon after her husband and returned to the shop, when the unfortunate young man was shot down in his tracks.

When the jury had returned, after only twenty minutes absence, and had announced their fatal decree, a most distressing scene was witnessed by the crowd. The prisoner, entirely overcome, let his head fall upon his bosom, while his wife, his sister, and his mother, gave vent to their anguish in their attending persons. His wife threw herself upon his neck, and exhibited passivity.—"Why did I do it? why did I do it?" said "the how could these men find him guilty, when they have found not oh, not oh, not?" This seems gradually subside into sobs of grief and anguish, while the mournful harrowing scene affected judge, jury, bar and spectators.

A Son Recently Deprived of His Wife.—On Sunday, a man, about 30 years of age, accompanied by a woman aged 27, and two children—representing themselves as man and wife—made application to Mr. Thompson for a divorce. They stated that they were just in Canada—having come over by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during the day and the succeeding night, and on Monday, the persons in question, accompanied by the couple, came in to the County House. I suppose they first came to the court, having been sent by the boat—and were desirous of means to have the legal divorce. Mr. Thompson, during

THE ADAMS SENTINEL AND GENERAL ADVERTISER.

DESIRABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

NEW HARDWARE STORE.

THE subscriber, intending to remove to the West, offers at Private Sale, a very desirable Property, situated in Franklin township, Adams county, on the road leading from Millerton to Cashtown, three miles from the latter place. There are TEN ACRES in the Lot. The Improvements are a two story small STABLE, and a new, low BLACKSMITH'S SHOP; a dove flying well at the door; and a YOUNG ORCHARD.

choice Fruit. The Lot lies along Mac Creek and a stream of water, falling water runs through it.

The terms will be made known on application to the subscriber, residing at the premises.

W. M. U. STRENKE.

MILL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE.

I wish to sell my valuable MILL PROPERTY, lying upon Parrotts Falls, in Carroll county, Md., about 25 miles from Baltimore and 7 from Westminster, in the neighborhood of Brown's Meeting-house. The Tract contains about

145 Acres of Land, two-thirds of which is covered with fine, thick TIMBER. The improvements are a good FRAME DWELLING-HOUSE, Stabling, & other Out-buildings, all conveniently arranged and situated, together with an extensive SAWING ESTABLISHMENT, which is now turning out $100 worth of work per month. The Water-power can be increased to almost any desirable amount.

For further particulars, address, post paid, GEO. W. MATTHEWS, Houck's Store, Carroll co., Md.

April 17.

Notice to Tax-Payers.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Commissioners will make an abatement of FIVE PER CENT. upon all State and County Taxes assessed for the year 1854, that shall be paid to Collectors on or before Wednesday the 26th day of June next. And Collectors are hereby required to make such abatement to all persons paying on or before said day.

Advertisers are required to make payment to the County Treasurer on or before Friday the 30th day of June next—otherwise they will not be entitled to any abatement.

By order of the Commissioners,

J. AUGHINBAUGH, Clerk.

May 29.

1d

Hanover Branch Rail Road

CHANGE OF HOURS.

ON and after Saturday, May 13, Trains over this road will run as follows:

1st Train will leave Hanover at 9:45 A. M. with Passengers for York, Harrisburg, Columbia, and Philadelphia, and return to Hanover with Passengers from Baltimore and York at 12 M. This Train connects also with the Express for Baltimore, arriving there at 1 P. M., stopping at Gettysburg, Parkton, and Coopersville.

2d Train will leave Hanover at 2:30 P. M. with Passengers for Baltimore, arriving there at 6:30; and return immediately with Passengers from York, &c., at 4:45 P. M.

3d Train will leave Hanover at 6 P. M. with Passengers for York, and return with Passengers from Baltimore at 8 P. M.

The Monday morning extra train will leave for Baltimore at 4:45; return at 7 A. M. EDWARD E. YOUNG, Agent, Hanover, June 5.

Baltimore & Susquehanna Rail Road.

CHANGE OF HOURS.—Way Passenger Train leaves Calvert Station at 8:15 A. M. Arrives at York at 11 A. M. Accommodation Train leaves Calvert Station at 4:25 P. M. Arrives at York at 7:42 P. M. Express Train leaves Calvert Station at 10 P. M. Arrives at York at 12:45 A. M.

A. P. WINCHESTER, Superintendent of Transportation.

May 15.

if

NEW ARRIVAL AND

A GREAT GATHERING!

ALMOST everybody is attracted to the

A Store of J. L. SCHICK, in the three-story building, Southwest Corner of the Strand, to see the large and splendid stock of

NEW GOODS, he has just brought from the Cities, and he is of course making any number of sales. But the more the merrier," and the busier he is, the better the business.

His permanent EMPLOYEES, J. A. THOMAS

GOODS of every description, such as Silks, Brocades, Chintz, Calicoes, Linens, Drap, Alpaca, Calicos, Ginghams, Shawls, Cashmere, Thibet & White Crapo of every variety.

Persons who buy in large quantities, will be given a few discounts.

For the Gentlemen, he has Cloths, Cassimere, Cashmere, Italian Cloth, Drap, Etc. Vestings, (a large and beautiful variety, Col. Damask, Linen Checks, Grey Linens, &c., being new and first rate,) Handkerchiefs, Cravats, Suspenders, &c.

He endeavors at all times to sell cheaper than any other Store in town, and that he succeeds in the endeavor will be proved by giving him a call. "Small profits and quick sales," and he trouble to show goods.

W. H. BUEHLER, Agent.

F. W. DYTTE & SONS, Wholesale Agents, Philadelphia.

G. T. FISHER & CO., Proprietors,

51 Superior Street, Cleveland, Ohio.

May 8.

3m

BUTTERCUPS,

By Sinking and Engraving

PIES altered, Envelopes stamped with business cards, Handwriting Envelopes, sealed and printed. Paper bags for flowers and putting up Garden and Flower Seeds with printed directions, at COLBERT'S Envelope Manufactory and Printing Establishment, 55 SOUTH FOURTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

N. B. Orders will be delivered by Express, or as per agreement.

Philadelphia, March 6.

cm

To the Public.

THE Subscriber desires the attention of the Citizens of Adams County, to his extensive stock of

SPRING & SUMMER GOODS,

this being his second arrival, which consists of LADIES' DRESS GOODS, such as Silks, Brocades, Chintz, Calicoes, Linens, Drap, Alpaca, Linen, Linen Cloth, Calicos, Ginghams, Chintz, Ginghams, Swiss, Jacob and Cashmere Shawls; Laces, Edgings, Gimp, Drap, Trimmings and Buttons, &c.

For the Gentlemen, he has Cloths, Cassimere, Cashmere, Italian Cloth, Drap, Etc. Vestings, (a large and beautiful variety, Col. Damask, Linen Checks, Grey Linens, &c., being new and first rate,) Handkerchiefs, Cravats, Suspenders, &c.

He endeavors at all times to sell cheaper than any other Store in town, and that he succeeds in the endeavor will be proved by giving him a call. "Small profits and quick sales," and he trouble to show goods.

J. L. SCHICK,

April 10.

if

NEW GOODS!

LOCANFIELD, W. G. CANFIELD, J. L. SCHICK, CANFIELD, BRO. & CO.

229 Locanfield Street, Corner of Charles,

W. G. CANFIELD, J. L. SCHICK, CANFIELD, BRO. & CO.

May 15.

if

GROCERIES & GROCERIES!

WE have just received the largest stock

of GROCERIES ever offered in this Town or County, consisting, in part, of

German, French and Domestic Cloths,

Black and White Cassimere, Satin and other Vests, Italian Cloths, Tweeds, Knit Jeans, Coat Ginghams, Brocade de Linen, Mousseline Prints, Ginghams, and a great variety of Goods, on numerous occasions, a large assortment of BOXNETS, Parcels, &c.

Call and see us, we are determined to undersell any and every establishment in the town or county.

ANTI-NEBRASKA

Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes.

COME ONE, COME ALL, and tell your neighbors to come to the Store of the ANTI-NEBRASKA, and see the well selected stock of HATS, CAPS, BOOTS AND SHOES, now opening, of the latest style and every variety, suitable for the Spring and Summer season for Gentlemen, Ladies, and Children.

I have made arrangements to have boots and shoes made to order, by the best of workmen, and of good material, in the quickest possible time.

W. W. PAXTON,

Gettysburg, March 27.

if

GROCERIES & GROCERIES!

WE have just received the largest stock

of GROCERIES ever offered in this Town or County, consisting, in part, of

2d Hists of Prime Sugar,

60 Barrels of 40-60 Hops,

6 Hists of the finest quality of Sumpper, together with a large assortment of Coffees, Rices, &c., &c., to which we invite the attention of purchasers, either wholesale or retail. Now is your time for cheap and general Groceries, the place to furnish them is FAHNESTOCKS.

May 15.

if

BOOTS, SHOES & HATS.

THE subscriber has arranged his Stock

again, and has filled in his newest Indus-

TRIES, BOOTS, SHOES & HATS, such as

first-rate French, American, English, Ladies' French, Soft, Rich, and Hard leather.

Also French, Brocades, Marbles, Fawn, Fox, &c., &c. &c. K. BOOTS, BLACK & BROWN, MOUNTAIN, FOUL & CLOTH, MOUNTAIN, FOUL & CLOTH, &c., &c. of which he has made up, and will sell cheap. I particularly invite my friends and customers to examine my stock before I leave.

MARSH SAMSON.

Gettysburg, March 27.

if

BOOTS, SHOES & HATS.

THE subscriber has arranged his Stock

again, and has filled in his newest Indus-

TRIES, BOOTS, SHOES & HATS, such as

first-rate French, American, English, Ladies' French, Soft, Rich, and Hard leather.

Also French, Brocades, Marbles, Fawn, Fox, &c., &c. &c. K. BOOTS, BLACK & BROWN, MOUNTAIN, FOUL & CLOTH, MOUNTAIN, FOUL & CLOTH, &c., &c. of which he has made up, and will sell cheap. I particularly invite my friends and customers to examine my stock before I leave.

MARSH SAMSON.

Gettysburg, March 27.

if

BOOTS, SHOES & HATS.

THE subscriber has arranged his Stock

again, and has filled in his newest Indus-

TRIES, BOOTS, SHOES & HATS, such as

first-rate French, American, English, Ladies' French, Soft, Rich, and Hard leather.

Also French, Brocades, Marbles, Fawn, Fox, &c., &c. &c. K. BOOTS, BLACK & BROWN, MOUNTAIN, FOUL & CLOTH, MOUNTAIN, FOUL & CLOTH, &c., &c. of which he has made up, and will sell cheap. I particularly invite my friends and customers to examine my stock before I leave.

MARSH SAMSON.

Gettysburg, March 27.

if

BOOTS, SHOES & HATS.

THE subscriber has arranged his Stock

again, and has filled in his newest Indus-

TRIES, BOOTS, SHOES & HATS, such as

first-rate French, American, English, Ladies' French, Soft, Rich, and Hard leather.

Also French, Brocades, Marbles, Fawn, Fox, &c., &c. &c. K. BOOTS, BLACK & BROWN, MOUNTAIN, FOUL & CLOTH, MOUNTAIN, FOUL & CLOTH, &c., &c. of which he has made up, and will sell cheap. I particularly invite my friends and customers to examine my stock before I leave.

MARSH SAMSON.

Gettysburg, March 27.

if

BOOTS, SHOES & HATS.

THE subscriber has arranged his Stock

again, and has filled in his newest Indus-

TRIES, BOOTS, SHOES & HATS, such as

first-rate French, American, English, Ladies' French, Soft, Rich, and Hard leather.

Also French, Brocades, Marbles, Fawn, Fox, &c., &c. &c. K. BOOTS, BLACK & BROWN, MOUNTAIN, FOUL & CLOTH, MOUNTAIN, FOUL & CLOTH, &c., &c. of which he has made up, and will sell cheap. I particularly invite my friends and customers to examine my stock before I leave.

MARSH SAMSON.

Gettysburg, March 27.

if

BOOTS, SHOES & HATS.

THE subscriber has arranged his Stock